Goals and Objectives

Project Goal
The goal of this project will be to give people unfamiliar with video games a basic introduction to them. It will provide a general overview of what is going on with video games right now, give a brief history of video games, give some information on what new technologies are coming out, and look at a few different games in each of the different genres.

Objectives
To achieve this goal, the project must:
1. Familiarize people with present day video games and video game systems
2. Provide information about the gaming world
3. Be a fun and entertaining site to visit

Target Audience
All males and females alike, ages fourteen and older.

Rationale
1. People should enjoy interacting with the website because it will be entertaining and at the same time informational.
2. The website will touch on a number of aspects relating to video games, as well as providing information to those who want to learn more about them.
3. I want to build this website because I really enjoy video games and would like others to see how fun they can be.

Project Overview:
This project will be created as an interactive web page, viewable on the world wide web. It will supply readers with a variety of information about video games from different events you can attend and the different technologies being invented, to information about many of the different video games themselves being released right now.
